Humanity's Call Comes Friday

Annual Red Cross Member- ship Campaign Begins On Armistice Day

Goal of the 1938 Red Cross roll call, which begins in Sierra Madre Armistice Day and ends Thanksgiving Day, is hundred percent membership from each organization and business house, Capt. E. G. Everett, chairman of the annual drive for support, declared yesterday.

"Service for suffering humanity" is the theme of the nationwide campaign, according to the local chairman, and the committee here will place emphasis upon a widespread enrollment rather than upon the amount of donations.

In addition to the one-dollar annual membership the following Red Cross memberships are available: Contributing, $5.00; supporting, $10.00; sustaining, $25.00; and life, $100. Assistant chairman of the roll call here is C. W. Jones.

Mr. Jones, director of the 1937 campaign, captains of the residential district division, and other division captains were announced as follows: Mrs. Yerda Adams, schools; Rev. A. O. Pritchard, churches; Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, PTA; Mrs. Norman Jensen, American Legion Auxiliary; Miss Clara Sykes, Woman's Club; Mrs. William Schwartz, Junior Woman's Club; Mrs. C. H. Sandage, Eastern Star; Miss Marion L. Vannier, Church of Ascension Woman's Guild; Mrs. Frank Spencer, St. Rita's Altar Society; Mrs. Eva Moore, Congregational Church ladies aid; Mrs. N. W. Tarr, Dickens Fellowship; Mrs. H. E. Hersey, Modern Priscillas; Waverly Pratt, city hall; Chief W. D. Richards, fire department; Frank Spencer, Kiwanis; William Schwartz, Masonic lodge; James Irvine, American Legion; Arthur Embree, Veterans of Foreign Wars; and Moto Sakamoto, Japanese Society.

Emphasizing importance of the work carried on by the Red Cross in this community and throughout the world wherever disaster strikes, Capt. Everett said:

"We never know at the beginning of the year what the Red Cross will face, what tasks it will be called upon to perform, what new avenues of service that will open for it. But all of these opportunities for good neighborliness are shared with the men and women who join during the annual membership roll call."

Mrs. C. W. Bowen is chairman in charge of booths to be located in the postoffice and in Sierra Madre Savings Bank, where contributions will be accepted.

Legion's Armistice Ball Outstanding Social Event

Red, white and blue bunting bedecked the Woman's clubhouse today in preparation for the gala Armistice Ball Saturday night.

One of the big events of the year on the calendar of the American Legion post, the affair is expected to attract several hundred guests, who will be welcomed by Commander Norman Jensen of the post and Mrs. Helen M. Smith, president of the women's auxiliary.

The card and other games will be directed by a committee including W. T. Clements, James Irvine and Will Cronin.

Hall Halloway's orchestra will supply music for the dancing, and in addition a cardroom will be open, with 500 and bridge games scheduled. Three prizes will be awarded to card players, and door prizes of five-, three- and two-dollar merchandise orders will be presented.

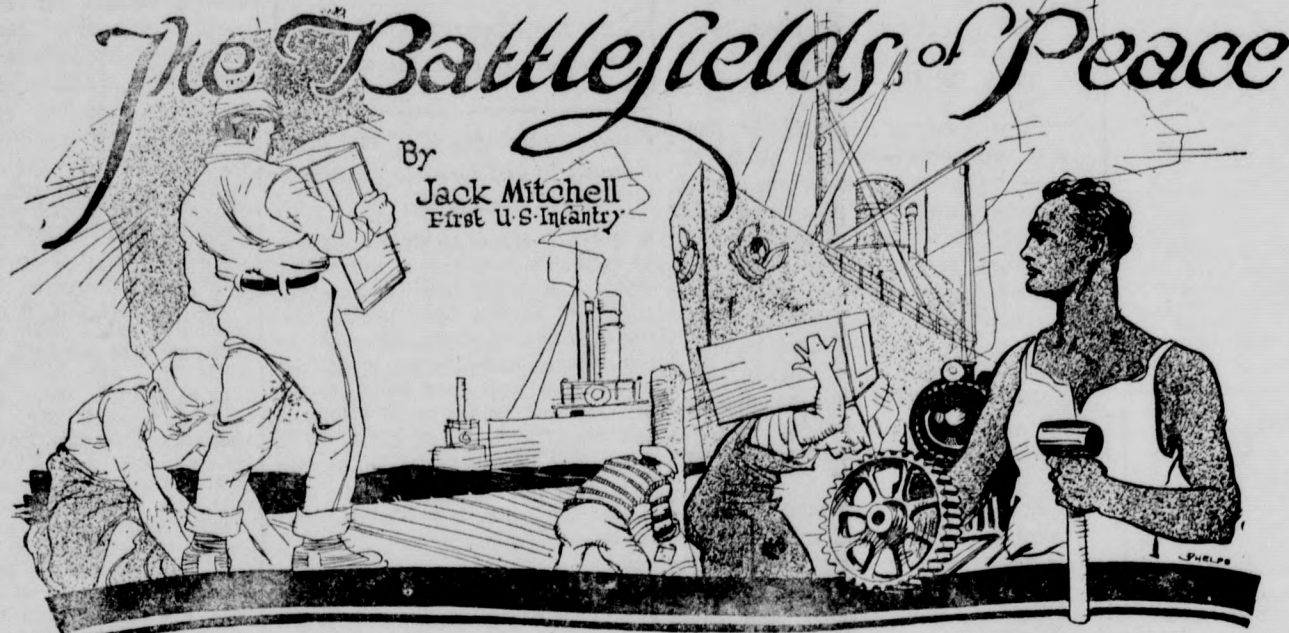

The Legionnaires have prepared a souvenir booklet for the occasion, that includes rosters of the post and auxiliary, a condensed resume of post history, and a record of this city's war dead. Proceeds of the affair will be devoted to Legion welfare work.

Dan Lewis and Collin Hill composed the finance committee for the affair, and all committees worked under general direction of Russell Lovejoy.

50 Camp Fire Girls To Receive Awards At Fire Lighting

Camp Fire Girls this week issued a general invitation to the public to attend their Grand Council Fire ceremonies to be held at 7:30 p. m. next Friday night, November 18, in the grammar school cafeteria.

Honors earned during the past year will be presented to about 50 Camp Fire Girls by Miss Eva Hancock, executive secretary, of Pasadena, and the girls will present their fire lighting ceremony, a most interesting and instructive ritual.

Honest ships, unfurl your colors:
Shed the war paint from your sides;
Sail again with Peace blest cargo;
Seek far lands and stranger tides.
Hear the call of peaceful conflict;
Trades of strife and battle cease;
Clear your decks and hold for action
On the battle line of peace.

Ye grim guns whose deathly mouthings
Slavered o'er the bloody field,
Give your tempered steel for plowshares
To enhance the flowered terrain.
Scar no more the flowered terrain
At each hissing shell's release;
Lend your children to the forger
For the battle tools of Peace.

And Ye bronzed, bemedaled heroes
Of a thousand brave deeds done,
Re-enlist for finer battles,
Peaceful victories to be won.
Carry far the starry Banner
In the friendly strife of Trade;
Give the rifle for your craft tool;
Trade the bayonet for the spade.

Build, and sow, and reap and harvest.
Reconstruct the ravaged world.
Venture far in Peace to conquer,
With the flag of Love unfurled.
Gird your loins in Labor's armor—
Decay will win if turmoil cease.
Strive for God, for Flag, for Country,
On the Battlefields of Peace.

Our Assemblyman

T. FENTON KNIGHT

All doubt about the election of T. Fenton Knight as the Assemblyman from this 48th district seemed removed last night when with returns from only 90 districts unaccounted for, Knight led Preston, his Democratic opponent, by more than 9,500 votes. Sierra Madre contributed to Mr. Knight's victory with a majority of 158, he receiving 961 and Preston 823 votes here.

Impressed by the splendid record of his predecessor, the late Frank G. Martin, Mr. Knight has pledged himself to carry on the Martin principles and policies in serving the communities he will represent—Sierra Madre, Altadena and La Canada.

Permits Call For More New Homes

Another Fine Dwelling Go- ing Up In Old Fowler Estate On Blvd.

Immediately after sales of real estate on Sierra Madre boulevard to Edward T. Clark and to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, building permits were issued and construction on the two new homes was under way this week.

Clark, who formerly lived in Santa Monica, purchased part of the old Fowler estate and his new stucco house is being erected at 451 West Sierra Madre boulevard adjoining the beautiful home of D. Pian, in an orange grove setting. The Clarks are living in the old Professor Hart home at Park avenue on the boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, formerly of Pittsburgh, Penn., and now staying at 625 Tularosa drive, Los Angeles, purchased a 75 by 225 piece of property and their frame dwelling is being erected at 559 West Sierra Madre boulevard.

A permit has also been issued to Sidney J. Beer, 1027 East 65th street, Inglewood, for construction of a new home in Santa Anita Court, on Lot 12 of Valley View tract.

Permits for building totalling $16,887 in value were issued here during October, William Lees, building inspector announced this week, revealing the amount brought the year's total to date more than $56,000 above the figure for the same time last year.

Total permits issued last year during October was $14,034, Lees said. The year's total to date he gave as $186,963, as compared to last year's figure, $130,241.

NEWS School Leads To Good Food

Community Happy Over Modern Methods Shown At Woman's Club

A lot of Sierra Madre families were tasting new culinary delights this week suggested and demonstrated to the city's home makers at THE NEWS cooking school at the Woman's clubhouse by Miss Florence Matheny, one of the best known home economists on the West coast.

Miss Matheny proved a most interesting instructor at the three-day session and produced an endless variety of sparkling suggestions for changes in the family menus that members of her audiences eagerly seized. The ease with which she prepared her great variety of tempting dishes on the modern gas ranges furnished by the Sierra Madre Hardware Co. for the demonstrations charmed her audiences. The fine co-operation of Sierra Madre business houses and national food distributing companies that contributed prizes sent over a hundred women home very happy over their good fortune.

Fifteen prizes were offered each day by the Ben Hur C'ffee and Spice Co., Weber's Bread Co., and Wilson Packing Co. Through the Brock Market here various S. & F. canned food products were given each day. Central Market contributed hams. Boxes of groceries were given as prizes each day by the two Safeway stores. Resnick's grocery gave a fine basket of groceries. Sierra Madre Hardware Co. gave various pyrex and other cooking utensils. Brown's Paint store, paint; Sierra Newsstand and Dane's Candy Shop, boxes of candy; Happy's Liquor store a bottle of wine each day; Hartman's Pharmacy boxes of stationery and other gifts; Sierra Madre Lumber Co., paint. Nearly every local store made a worthwhile contribution, including Tom Schwartz Radio Shop, Ellen's Beauty Shop, Richie Cleaners, Pettit's Furniture store, Standard Service station, Edwards Service station, Langley's Barber shop, Gregor's Jewelry shop, and the Sierra Madre News, which gave two subscriptions to THE NEWS and two orders for 100 engraved visiting cards.

Mrs. Winifred Bradley of 154 N. Mt. Trail was the lucky winner of the grand prize which was a complete pottery service given through the courtesy of Southern Counties Gas Co. Other women, many of whom were only a little less fortunate than Mrs. Bradley were: Mrs. James Laidlaw, 169 N. Lima; Mrs. C. E. Ware, 269 N. Laurel; Mrs. C. H. Tuggle, 270 W. Sierra Madre Blvd.; Mrs. B. Heerde, 242 W. Sierra Madre Blvd.; Mrs. M. Switz, 33 S. Lima; Mrs. C. H. Sandage, 168 W. Laurel; Mrs. Zeda F. Leonard, 17 N. Mt. Trail; Mrs. W. W. Zone Law Is Up To City Council

Final Hearing On Proposed Ordinance Set For November 29

Accepting the city planning commission's land use plan for the city's proposed zoning ordinance, the city council last night fixed the evening of November 29 for a final hearing before the ordinance goes through the routine of adoption.

A series of hearings have been held. Once the proposed ordinance was sent back to the planners by the council. Final objections must come now, with the probability that they must have very exceptional merit.

At its Tuesday meeting the Council received resolution from the American Legion post suggesting a city-owned ball park, which was referred to a committee of the whole council.

The street department was instructed to proceed with paving of Lowell avenue, omitting those portions where property owners will not have curb installed by November 21. Where curb is already installed or will be in place by that date, the street will be paved at no cost to the property owners.

New Supervisor

"BILL" SMITH

William A. Smith is the new supervisor of this, the first supervisorial district. Sierra Madre contributed a majority of 150 votes towards his substantial majority over former Supervisor Hugh A. Thatcher of Pomona. During the term of Herbert C. Legg as supervisor, Mr. Smith has acted as his field secretary and has kept pretty well in touch with the needs of this and other areas of the district.

Sierra Madre gave Smith 1025 and Thatcher 875 votes.

Most Local Stores Will Be Closed On Armistice Day

Most of the business houses here planned to remain closed throughout Armistice day, some announced they would close at noon and a few planned to remain open all day.

City offices, the postoffice and the bank will observe the holiday, but drugstores, restaurants and gasoline stations will be open.

The V. F. W. group and some of the Legionnaires will participate in the Armistice parade in Pasadena, while others will go to Monterey Park to join with the Legion post of that city in ceremonies at the city park.

Your Congressman

Carl Hinshaw

With a majority of its registered voters in the Democratic bracket, Sierra Madre contributed a majority of 288 votes to make Carl Hinshaw this 11th district's representative in the next Congress, succeeding John S. McGroarty, Democrat.

Hinshaw's vote in Sierra Madre was 979. Hamblen had 691.

Hinshaw, educated as an engineer, is a business man.

Republican Candidates Carry Sierra Madre

Registration Is Upset Here— City Voters Against Garrison Bonds, Single Tax And $30 Pensions— Big Vote Comes Out

With a majority of its 2641 voters registered as Democrats, Sierra Madre swung back into the Republican column at Tuesday's election with substantial majorities for all of the Republican candidates, contributing substantially towards the majority of Carl Hinshaw who will take the place of a Democrat in Congress.

It gave a majority to T. Fenton Knight, its community representative in the Assembly at Sacramento; for William A. Smith, the local district's new representative on the board of supervisors, and voted emphatically against the single tax, revenue bond and $30 a week pension proposals.

Its voters lagging in recent elections until less than 60 per cent went to the polls, 2066 expressed their will on Tuesday when the greatest vote ever was polled. Nearly 80 per cent of the vote was cast.

Election day was so ideal that only a bed-ridden citizen had any excuse for remaining away from the sun-flooded polling places.

Sierra Madreans contributed 970 votes towards the great State total against the revenue bond act, 1264 against the single tax proposition and voted down the "ham and eggs" No. 25 by a vote of 1202 to 686.

Culbert L. Olson, Democrat, successful candidate for governor, received only 870 votes in Sierra Madre, which gave a majority of 230 votes to Governor Merriam.

Great Need Of Red Cross Is Seen Here

Annual Report Of Local Chapter Shows Fine Community Service

That 1938 so far has been a busy year for Sierra Madre Red Cross chapter was indicated in a report submitted last night by Miss Louise Judson, executive secretary, showing service rendered to 200 individuals in addition to 125 families.

The report summarized general aid given by the local chapter, only organized public relief center in Sierra Madre, as a contact center for federal, state and county relief agencies, clinics and medical departments.

In addition the record showed numerous other items of specific aid. The chapter distributed a total of 565 quarts of milk and 400 articles of clothing. Commodity food and clothing orders totaling 420 were delivered from the Monrovia commissary, and 300 prescriptions were filled and delivered on county orders. From the chapter's emergency closet 45 articles were loaned for use in sick rooms.

Through the Red Cross informal employment service, 200 persons were placed in employment, it was reported. Meal tickets and clothing were distributed among 25 transients.

The report showed continuous progress in the various Red Cross projects carried on here. These include the first aid class conducted by Joe Swanson last spring, the home and farm accident prevention work and the Junior Red Cross, both directed by Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, and the production division headed by Mrs. H. C. Lieben. The latter produces lap robes, socks and other items for tubercular veterans in hospitals, prepares Christmas bags for soldiers in service in foreign countries and articles held in reserve for disaster distribution.

Mum Dessert-Bridge Party To Boost Float Fund

In a drive for funds to finance the "Wistaria Town's" float in the New Year's Day tournament of Roses personal solicitation was under way this week and a benefit dessert-bridge party was scheduled for Friday, Nov. 18, at the Wistaria Vine Gardens.

Assurance of hearty cooperation was given the float committee at a meeting attended by a large delegation from the American Legion, representatives of the Legion Auxiliary, Junior Women's club and Kiwanis club.

Mrs. W. J. Lawless offered the use of the Vine Gardens for the benefit party, similar to that which last year netted $60 for the float fund, and she will furnish the dessert.

The affair was scheduled for Friday of next week, following the suggestion of Mrs. Lawless that it be held while Cascade Chrysanthemums displays in the show sponsored by the Junior Women's club last week remain fresh and in place.

AFTER 20 YEARS

When faces turn east toward Flanders' fields this Armistice Day, they will look out upon a world that has fought much, suffered much, and learned little, since the big guns ceased firing in the Rhineland.

The first years that followed the jubilant day when a "Cease firing!" order carried its electrifying message round the earth seemed, indeed, to hold a promise of enduring peace for a war-sickened world.

But who can say as much today, with the furnaces of munitions plants casting their ruddy glare across virtually every nation as if mocking the will of all peoples toward peace? And with the most utterly vanquished nation in that struggle twenty years ago now become the virtual lord and master of a continent, while a great power of the Orient successfully threatens to subdue another continent by violence?

Yet if America sees the war spirit mobilizing elsewhere and, while safeguarding herself with rearmament, chooses to keep herself disentangled, it is because she hates war, not fears it! A titanic struggle that took from the world 23 million lives, made refugees of 10 million, and orphaned 9 million, indicts itself as mankind's most terrible enemy and well merits that hate.

That the valiant men America honors this day fought only to win the world enduring freedom from the bondage of war gods, entitles them to our higher regard. The world needs no better ideal than theirs. Could the world learn to sacrifice for peace as boldly as they sacrificed for war, the shadow of future Armageddon need never darken another Armistice Day!

DANGER ZONE

Believe it or not—the most dangerous place you can be is at home!

According to the National Safety Council, the principal causes of deaths from home accidents last year were divided as follows: falls, 17,500; burns and explosions, 5,600; poisonings, 1,700; firearms, 800; mechanical suffocation, 1,000; poison gases, 1,100. The grand total was 32,500 deaths—ninety out of a hundred of which were unnecessary, and could have been easily prevented.

The Red Cross, in company other safety organizations, has been carrying on a drive to awaken the public to the danger of home accidents, and to show how hazards may be easily removed and avoided. Take a look around your own home. Is there a loose rug at the top of a staircase? It may easily cause a fall that will result in long agony in the hospital, or death. Can unlocked medicine cabinets be reached by children? If so, they are in imminent danger of fatal poisoning by such a common first aid accessory as iodine. Are guns kept unloaded and out of reach of amateur hands?

You can think of many more such vital questions. When you do, answer them at once—and not by guesswork, but after a rigorous investigation of every room in your home. And once you've eliminated hazards, keep them eliminated. Remember that a home that is safe today may be filled with dangers tomorrow. Keep safety in mind at all times—if you want to keep your name and the name of your loved ones off the future lists of home accident victims.

TECHNOCRATS WILL HEAR HOWARD SCOTT

Technocrats of this city plan to attend the Southern California conclave December 4 at the Los Angeles Shrine auditorium where Howard Scott of New York, founder of Technocracy, will speak. Reservations for the meeting may be made through Mrs. Snell or Eber Thomas, 38 North Baldwin.

THE POCKETBOOK
of KNOWLEDGE BY TOPPS

According to Federal Government figures, the firms in the classification known as small business in 1937 paid 83 percent of the Federal Income Tax derived from business operations. During the same period it employed 70 percent of the persons on the nation's payrolls. It is reasonable to assume, therefore, that Small Business transacted between 70 and 80 percent of the nation's business.

The latest bulletin of the 12th district (this area) is really optimistic. It reports "further expansion in Twelfth District industrial activity, as measured by figures of output, employment and payrolls... succeeded in October by improved retail trade."

The growing industrial revival finds its counterpart in lessening numbers of WPA job-holders. Acting Administrator Williams reported last week that in September 228,000 persons—three-fourths of them voluntarily—left their relief jobs, most of them to enter private employment.

How not to make friends and influence people has just been admirably demonstrated for young swains by 34-year-old Charles Whalen of New York.

His ardent courtship of pretty 20-year-old Anne Bowles, makes Casanova look like a bungling amateur, but unlike Casanova, Whalen has not been immediately successful in getting out of jail, or winning the affections of the girl, for that matter. This is understandable. He ordered an undertaker and a hearse to station themselves in front of the office where she worked, while he sang, "Nearer My God to Thee." He sent up lunches—C. O. D. to her office after she had eaten, and flooded her mail with newspaper stories about angry swains killing their indifferent sweethearts. All in vain. Miss Bowles had him carted off to court for a verbal dressing down, and the judge held him for five days without bail. Whalen's was not the conventional method, but who can say his romance was pointless? He proved that courting on a moderately spectacular scale survives in this modern age.

Deer hunters who moan over a good old day in Los Angeles county haven't anything to weep over as far as this year's season is concerned, for 55 more deer were checked in at the stations of the county forester and fire warden during the season just closed as compared with last year. The northwestern part of the county still leads as the happy hunting ground for 322 of the total were checked in at the Newhall station. At Malibu headquarters the total was 83; at San Dimas 75; and at Flintridge, 11.

Bees talk to each other by the means of body movements, according to Dr. J. E. Eckert, assistant professor of entomology on the Davis campus of the University of California. Dr. Eckert says bees can by their movements direct other bees of the hive to the location of newly discovered sources of honey supply.

California may expect less rainfall during this winter than the average winter precipitation for the past 22 years, according to the annual seasonal forecast issued by Dr. George F. McEwen, professor of physical oceanography at Scripps Institution of Oceanography. Dr. McEwen began a study of seasonal forecasting in 1916, has issued forecasts since 1920, and has maintained a surprisingly high average for accuracy. Dr. J. J. Newlin, of Santa Clara University, on the other hand, predicts an abundance of rain after January 1.

California is not yet a Nebraska, as far as absence of public debt is concerned, but the new score sheet on indebtedness in the state's 58 counties shows a promising beginning in that direction. On the debit side of counties' ledgers is a total of $191,876,573, a sum sufficient to discourage further indebtedness through pension plans de luxe. Yet on the credit side there is something to be said. The present county debt of some 191 millions is a reduction of $24,748,949 of what it was two years ago, and a drop of $14,400,947 from last year's sum. Moreover, 15 counties can boast no debt whatsoever.

When citizens gather for merry-making henceforth, life will be easier—in San Jose. Under a new policy, the WPA recreation project there will supply, on order, people guaranteed to live up parties, organize games, and keep the ball of conversation rolling. As long as citizens are paying for WPA, they may as well have their dividends in pleasure. And if the WPA party-savers are really successful, it will be the first time a taxpayer has ever laughed when he saw where his money was going.

Who has a name for the great what-is-it of the animal world? Eight of 'em have just been captured in the Malaysian jungles. Zoologists are baffled. Not a zoo in the world has a name for the little creatures. And soon the nameless waifs will be sporting in San Diego's zoo without even a character reference to identify them. If you have imagination, steady nerves, and have at one time or another in your life qualified as a name-caller, you might try devising a moniker for the what-is-it. They weigh about two pounds, have heads like a raccoon's, fangs like a cat's, teeth like a human being's, the eyes of an owl, and the fur of a mole. It is further reported that they eat bananas, have two tongues, and never drink. Nothing has been seen like them since Barnum painted his elephant white. The closest animal to them, say scientists, is one that supposedly became extinct all of three centuries ago. Its name was "Pro-emsmia nysticebus tardigradus." That should hold the little rascals until their mother comes along and identifies them.

Revenues from taxes on gasoline and motor vehicles account for 37 percent of all tax income received by the states, the Automobile Club of Southern California figures show.

With a very superior air, countries in Europe like to chide us about our kidnappings. But the shoe is now on the other foot. Dispatches from Vienna report the Nazis are holding Baron Louis de Rothschild for a $3,000,000 ransom. If the sum is not forthcoming within a month's time, their victim will be thrown into a concentration camp to undergo, as best he can, a living death. America's kidnappers

P.T.A. Plans Evening Sessions To Study Problem Of Tots Of Pre-School Age

First evening meeting of parents interested in the study of pre-school age children, held Tuesday night at the grammar school, was an indication of progress made by the movement in two years here.

So stated Mrs. Edward A. Davey, president of the Parent-Teacher association which has actively assisted in promoting the project conducted as an extension of the Pasadena school system.

Mrs. Davey explained that if there is sufficient interest on the part of parents, evening sessions may be conducted here once a week. So far, fathers and mothers have travelled to Pasadena for the evening sessions at the Pintosca and main libraries there.

Planned to offer opportunity to study children of pre-school age in play situations and under direction of certified and experienced leaders, the play group conducted by the school system meets every Wednesday morning, between 9 and 11:30 a. m., at the grammar school. Mrs. Kathleen Jackson, of the department of parent education, is in charge of the play group, attended by both parents and children, and also conducts evening sessions. At the latter observations are exchanged and questions arising from study of the play group are solved.

"Play groups are arranged so that parents may study growth in its continuously shifting picture," Mrs. Davey explained. "The adults take a continuous record of all that the children do or say."

No stress is laid upon a set time for arrival at the play group meetings. Mrs. Davey pointed out, "Home duties make it difficult for parents of young children to meet at an exact hour," she said, "and it is important they feel free from pressure. Less excitement results from a gradual assembling of the group, the children greeting each other as they arrive one by one."

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

When the roll call laid bare the fact that five regular members were not present, it was more of a surprise than ever when it was learned that such loyal and regular fellows as Marion Hayes, Joe Swanson, Vern Udell, Bob Newbery and Jim Heasley were among the missing. But because most of these were attending another fire meeting in another city, they were excused. But Heasley simply couldn't get there. He was somewhere in New Mexico or Texas and just wishing he was in Sierra Madre.

Our fellows regret missing a Sierra Madre firemen's meeting. It must be because the fellows there are real. There is no artificial handshake that can only be felt for a moment. I feel that they are real friends, these fellows. We had real fun, we spent many days here. He was well known for his amiable attitude and general goodfellowship. "Art," as we knew him brought with him a much information in the science of fighting forest fires. "Art" Udell, father of our own Vern Udell, is now deeply connected with the C. C. camps and he we feel grateful, for "Art" still retains an interest in the fire department.

thought they were in the big-time circuit when they sought to extort $50,000 to $100,000 from their victims' families. But the tough lads now doing time in Alcatraz and Leavenworth were only sandlot show-offs compared with the unabashed demands of the azi captors. And these latter have a much better chance of succeeding, too. The police are on their side!

The Marriage
ProblemBy MARGARET ANGLIN
Celebrated Shakespearean Actress

Future Marriages Will Be Influenced by the Growing Power of Women

MARRIAGE as an institution has been about for a very long while and when one is asked to speculate on how long it will continue to remain about, or rather to put it specifically, what it will be like in 100 years, one must first of all stop and reflect on how long it has been.

Anything which has been, as this has been, has strong claim to continued longevity, if behind it there is pure reason.

I am of the belief that one hundred years from now marriage will be something of what marriage has been.

To put a span on when it will change is not as easy to lay down a chalk mark and say, "This is where the hundred yards end. Now run."

It has had, of course, its utilitarian uses. It has been used to inherit wealth, to make kings, to join estates, to reconcile warring factions and families. It has also been used to make millions of people happy, to make millions of hearts fires glow, to make millions of men war and trade and go down to the sea in ships and keep mills spinning, and mines busy.

The affection, ties and pride of parenthood, in its best sense, seem to me the surest argument in favor of matrimony. I cannot conceive, except in isolated cases—and that largely where the instinct of motherhood or fatherhood is subnormal or completely absent—I cannot conceive a new world where the boy or girl should have merely a half interest in love or love's protection.

Which parent would lay claim to the child and which claim would be sustained? Or would it be a communal affair where no individual sentiment, paternal or maternal, should obtain? Some imagination, more far-reaching than mine, would have to picture convincingly a world devoid of that sentiment and its demands, which I do not believe will ever be unless blood ceases to flow in veins.

For the most part, one can only surmise, but for the lesser part, one can lay down a most poignant impression that marriage will be in some way influenced by growing power on the part of the woman, power born of power, power born of intellectual right to power, that will have no mean part in the sociologic scheme.

Women have always had power of every kind but till now have exercised it only sporadically. Now, woman is spreading her knowledge of how to be a woman with all her power.

It is my personal belief that with that growing power of woman she will demand increasing protection—for her progeny.

I do not believe man will ever relinquish his pride of race and so—for the sake of argument, dismiss the idea of marriage being a sacrament, dismiss the idea that it was ordained, that it was predestined. In its initial and indispensable essence, it is two people bound together as an institution. In any institution things may go wrong, frequently do as a matter of fact, but if the institution is solid, breakage can be repaired or ignored as trivial. Canopy of church or sanction of state cannot, never did and never will change the fact that marriage is something two people agree upon. That I believe will go on.

I think, without even knowing what the actual word marriage means, that always two people will find each other, keep each other, and always, while there are men and women, that no matter what the texture or quality or quantity of the word we call "marriage," marriage will be.

Biography of Casanova

Giovanni, or Jacopo Casanova de Seingalt, Italian adventurer and author, was born in 1725. He studied for the church, was rejected, and entered the army. Arrested for impiety, the practice of magic and witchcraft, his life thereafter was a tissue of roguery and amorous adventures. He was a man of learning and taste, a poet, a mathematician, theologist and critic. His last years were spent as librarian to Count Waldstein at Dux, Bohemia. His memoirs, written in French, are world famous.

Indians Used Mountain Beaver

Fortunately for itself, the mountain beaver has no value in the eyes of a white man, but the Indians used to hunt it for its skin, which they used for making robes, and probably also for its flesh. There is no reason to think it would make any worse eating than either a squirrel or a woodchuck.

Script Writer Says Authors Scarcely
Able To Recognize Their Stories
When They Appear On Screen

Harlan Ware, motion picture script writer whose work has also appeared in many of the most prominent magazines of national circulation, proved an interesting speaker at the monthly meeting of the Sierra Madre Art Guild, Friday evening. "Why you should be tolerant of the movies" was the topic chosen by Mr. Ware and was probably more amusing than convincing.

"I was living in a chicken coop down here in Santa Anita Oaks writing for whoever would publish what I had written, and enjoying life when I happened to write an article ridiculing the movies which was published in Colliers," said Mr. Ware, "and suddenly I found that the movies wanted me."

"I was called for an interview with the head of a script department, who after giving me a script to read, hired me when I told him I had no ideas for it." Mr. Ware assured his listeners that the movies are written, then re-written by "nineteen other guys" so that when the writer finally sees the screen performance he is unable to recognize one word that he has done.

Colin Housely, young Sierra Madre baritone, followed Mr.

Ware on the program with two groups of songs which were enthusiastically received. He was accompanied by Miss Ruth Stinton, of Alhambra.

YOUR HOME
AND MINE
BY ANNE WILSON

"I don't mind cooking on days when I have time for it," a woman commented recently. "But when I am busy sewing, gardening or washing, it is an annoyance to have to stop to get a meal."

When days like that come along, the trusted casserole dinner is the answer! Put the meat and vegetables together and cook all at one time. If you have an electric range with a timer, put the casserole in the oven immediately after breakfast and set the clock to turn the heat on and off at the proper time. Or if you don't want to use the oven, use an electric casserole. This appliance is a small oven in itself and is an easy way to cook an entire meal.

One good dish is a Spanish rice mixture combined with frankfurters. This should be baked at moderate heat for 30 minutes. Ham and Vegetable Casserole is another:

Ham and Vegetable Casserole

Place a 1½ inch slice of ham in the bottom of a greased casserole. Cut in half four potatoes, six carrots, four small onions and four turnips. Arrange over ham. Combine ¼ cup light molasses with 1 cup milk and ¼ teaspoon paprika. Pour over vegetables. Cover and bake for two hours at moderate heat. Uncover during last half hour. This amount serves six to eight persons.

Even YOU Can Wear The Frivolous Fall Felts

But study the shape of your face carefully before choosing

Nothing makes a handsome matron with large, full features look bigger than a tiny, brimless hat. She needs a medium sized brim at least. This high, flat-topped crown with its smart side roll brim softens large features yet gives the up-sweep effect so important in today's hats.

Here is a Watteau pancake in gray felt bound with black ribbon for the girl with a round, heart-shaped face. It is ideal for the new hair-do. The ribbon band in back holds the piled high curls in place, while the up-shot ostrich feathers and brim carry out the upped effect.

For a square jaw and broad features, your hat can do wonders. Note how the lines and details of this high peaked crown with its two long quills add height to a wide face. Yet the hat is a classic felt with the brim up in back and down in front, to be worn at a perky angle.

Notes From St. Rita's School

After school time any day now, boys and girls, too, crowd the handball court at the school playing "Brownie Up." In case you haven't seen it played: It's all the same as handball, except for a few added rules. One player stands against the board, the others trying to hit him, and when they succeed he is out of the game. The boys play a pretty furious game, the girls, a little more gently.

--- P.T.A. Bulletin ---

Appropriate to the Thanksgiving season, an exhibit entitled "Life in Colonial Days in America," will be sponsored by Grade 7B of the grammar school and its teacher, Samuel McElfresh. This is already the subject of much interest.

Through cooperation with Miss Lulu Moore, city librarian, there will be on display at the school some of the children's books available at the Public Library. These may be inspected and those desired for further perusal may be reserved. This exhibit will, doubtless, be suggestive in making selections of well recommended books as Christmas gifts to children. In addition, it is in recognition of Children's Book Week, November 14-21.

The adult study group continues to meet every Wednesday afternoon at 3 p.m. in room 6 at the grammar school, under the leadership of Dr. F. von Roesdall Mayer. In addition to his topic, "Personality Development," Dr. Mayer also gives this group an interesting resume week by week of current events, national and international. Enrollment in the study group is still open.

1. Your household will begin the cold months with greater comfort and convenience plus the health-protecting advantages of proper warmth. No need to be continually adjusting appliances to keep heat uniform. You will have correct circulation of air; no dampness on walls.

2. Easy terms eliminate any need for delay. Install automatic equipment now and pay for it by the month.

Electric Cooking is ECONOMICAL

A FULL-COURSE DINNER COSTS
LESS THAN 1c PER PERSON

Surprising indeed is the economy of the modern electric range with its lower simmering temperatures, thrift cooker, insulated oven and other improved features. A full-course dinner costs hardly a penny per person for electricity, other meals much less. But that is not the only way you economize. You save a big portion of your food bill through elimination of shrinkage and cooking failures; you save because the construction of the electric range makes it last for years; finally you save because of the special low domestic rate to which the purchase of an electric range entitles you. Take advantage of these economies now. See the new models at your dealer's.

MEMBERS of the Woman's Club enjoyed an unusually fine program Wednesday afternoon, presented by Mrs. A. D. Cain, program chairman, who followed a brief discussion by Mrs. Al Myers, president, of plans for a bridge luncheon of fifty tables to be given at the club house December 7th, opened the program by reading her paper on the life and work of Frederick Chopin.

"Chopin," she said, "is the greatest poet of the piano, invariably giving no name to his compositions — using only the form in which he has written, but to musicians they paint a picture which needs no name."

Mrs. Cain followed the life of the great Polish master from the beginning of his musical career until its untimely close at the early age of 39, and dealt at length with the ten year period of his association with George Sand during which his greatest compositions were written. Many other great composers of the piano were quoted, among them Rubinstein who paid tribute to Chopin in the following words: "Never so long as the piano remains the piano will Chopin be forgotten; he is its soul."

Gustave Riherd, well known Altadena pianist, assisted Mrs. Cain on the program, interpreting many of the most loved compositions of the master. The second half of the program which followed luncheon was presented by Mrs. W. W. Nijhoff who has lived for many years at the Hague, Holland, and gave an informative and timely talk on the life and international activities there.

Culture and use of cascade chrysanthemums will be the subject of round table discussion at the meeting of Sierra Madre Woman's club garden section at 10 a. m. next Wednesday in the clubhouse.
